iChad - A TV host

Sam - His nerdy female co-host

Hip techno music plays as iChad and Sam enter.

ICHAD: Hey, guys, welcome to iChad, the most excellent show that brings you the latest in technology. I'm your host iChad, and with me is my co-host, Sam.

SAM: Hey.

ICHAD: This week on iChad, we're making new friends.

SAM: That's right. This week, we're on the Facebook app!

ICHAD: Facebook was created by a couple of college kids as a way to connect with other college kids. It soon spread far beyond college, and now, people of all ages are on Facebook!

SAM: It's incredible. I have friends from all over the country, and all over the world!

ICHAD: Me too, Sam. But you know I don't think you and I are friends on Facebook.

SAM: That's because I can't find your profile. I searched and searched, but no iChad.

ICHAD: Here, search for Isaac Chadwell.

SAM: Isaac Chadwell? Who's that?

SKIT

ICHAD: That's me! That's my full name!

SAM: Wow, I thought iChad was your first name.

ICHAD: Speaking of names, what's your last name, Sam?

SAM: Sung.

ICHAD: Okay, cool.

SAM: People become friends on Facebook after one of them invited another to be friends. That's a cool thing because it reminds me of someone else who invited me to be his friend: Jesus!

ICHAD: Jesus has invited all of us to be friends with him. He wants to be our Lord and Savior, and he wants to invite us to live forever with him in Heaven.

SAM: And you don't need Facebook to answer the invitation. Just get on your knees and pray and say yes.

ICHAD: Jesus will never write on your wall, or like any of your posts.

SAM: Or post one of those annoying videos on your feed either.

ICHAD: But he will give you new life here and in eternity. So accept that invitation today.

SAM: Today, kids!

ICHAD: That's all for iChad this week. I'm iChad. And this is... Sam Sung?

SAM: That's right.

ICHAD: Good day, and have a pleasant tomorrow.
